

Ruby-on-Rails Developer Intern/ Freelancer

About SponsorPay

SponsorPay is a rapidly growing, venture capital-backed start-up with pan-European reach. Positioned at the crossroads of online gaming, social networks, performance marketing, and virtual currency monetization, we are active in one of the fastest-paced markets in the technology space.

Our platform enables developers of online games and social applications to monetize their users through the offer-based purchase of virtual currency, based on a highly profiled targeting algorithm and a unique ad inventory.

Our multinational team - headquartered in Berlin - serves online communities and social publishers in Europe, the US and South America.
