Reasons for the nomination

Please briefly describe the teaching concept that you nominate for a Teaching Award.

The following questions are intended to give you some guidance. You do not have to comment on all points. However, the more concretely you describe individual aspects of teaching, the better the selection committee can make a decision.

- What prompted your nomination?
- How would you describe the course in terms of structure and content?
- What makes the proposed course an outstanding example of good teaching in the context of the subject?
- How are students encouraged to participate actively and to engage in depth with the course content?
- How are complex issues and contexts made comprehensible and clear?
- How are the students' different learning requirements taken into account?
- In what way do students receive feedback on their learning progress and level of performance?
- Which specific teaching forms, methods, or materials are used and to what extent are they particularly suitable for achieving the learning objectives?
- What other special features of the teaching concept would you like to emphasize (↗e.g. with regard to research references in teaching, the linking of theory and practice, interdisciplinarity, use of media-supported forms of learning, interaction between teachers and students ...)?

The application is accompanied by the following attachment(s) (please select)

- a statement from students
- evaluation results
- course plans (e.g. seminar plan), teaching materials, announcement texts, if applicable
- if applicable, explanations by the nominee(s) (in the case of nominations by students)
